needed over, that it be left in the fields until completely cured. Corn put into silos in its present green state will turn black and "acid" and will be unpalatable to stock, he said.

At the meeting here it was also said that there is some danger in feeding green corn, sorghum or sudan grass to livestock. In isolating these crops, at certain stages, develop prussic acid. Some deaths from this cause have been reported in Iowa. In the Missouri drought area recently a farmer went into his corn field and cut a supply of fodder for his herd of 25 Jersey cows. All of them died.

Mr. Bentz and the surveyors have had no official notice of what action is to be taken following the survey.

It is possible, however, that the route may be hard surfaced at the same time paving is put under the subway from Grace to Woodlawn avenue.

No contracts for paving have been let by the highway commission yet to his knowledge, Bentz said.

Secondary road construction work in Lucas county this year is also probable, according to information received here. Special effort is to be made to put road work funds into this area by the highway commission as a drought relief measure. It was reported.
